

RESUMÉ

Philip was appointed Director General of the Institute of Credit Management in January 2006. His involvement in ICM commenced in 1980 when he became a Graduate member. He has since held office as vice-chairman of Council, chairman of its national Education Committee and played a number of other local and national roles. In addition to his ICM qualification, Philip holds the Certified Diploma in Accounting and Finance and an MBA from Strathclyde Graduate Business School.

He has 26 years experience in credit management with STC Distributors, Olivetti and finally with Vodafone where he worked for 10 years prior to taking up post at the ICM.

He is a member of the Better Payment Practice Group and, outside of work, is a fanatical season ticket holder of Tottenham Hotspur. He is married with three children.
