

Graham Platts

Graham Platts was a Director of Experian-Scorex and later the CEO of Scorex. In his own words: "Demand for decision support systems is expanding rapidly in every market throughout the world as financial institutions constantly seek improvements in risk management techniques and solutions."

